thoroughly and heartily enjoyed. A five-course banquet was served under great difficulties, as there are no kitchen conveniences connected with the hall and the stairs are so long, but everything passed off well despite that fact. After the banquet Arthur F. Stone, president of the Alumni Association, as toastmaster, first called the company together for a short business meeting. The report of the secretary, Miss Josephine M. Woods, was read and accepted. The report of the treasurer, Robert F. Clark, was followed by that of the nominating committee, Miss Caroline S. Woodruff, chairman, which was accepted as follows: President, Arthur F. Stone; first vice president, Herbert A. Stanley; second vice president, Charles G. Braley; third vice president, Mrs. Margaret Newell Heywood; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Robie; treasurer, Roy N. Howard; registrar, Mrs. Alice M. Ritchie; auditor, John Farnham; executive committee, Harry H. Carr, chairman, William Babcock, Katherine Bingham, Mrs. Abbie Brown Brooks, Calvin Brown, Freda Gilfillan, Dr. W. G. Ricker, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Mildred Stanley, Mrs. Grace McLeod Stevens; member of alumni co-operating committee for three years, Elisha May; fund committee, John Rickaby, chairman, William T. Abbott, Chicago, Edwin A. Bayley, Boston; Eulalie Grover, New York, E. K. Hall, Boston, Mrs. Cordelia Nevins Marriot, England, Prof.

Charles E. Putney, Burlington, William L. Quimby, New York, Mrs. Florence Goss Stafford, Washington; nominating committee, Charles W. Steele, Helen Stevens, Mrs. Clara Davis Forrest. The toastmaster read letters from some of those who were unable to be present, among them Prof. C. E. Putney, Hon. Joseph A. DeBoer, A. L. Hardy, Miss Elizabeth Hall and Gov. Plafsted of Maine. He also paid tribute to two of the alumni who have gone from us during the past year, W. S. Boynton of St. Johnsbury and Congressman D. J. Foster. Dwight Drew of Wakefield, Mass., brought greetings from the Boston alumni and his happy reminiscences and optimistic words for the future were inspiring. Two selections by Mrs. Anna S. Cross gave delight to all at this point in the post-prandial. The fact that two men who were students in the Academy when the first class left it were at the banquet was referred to by the toastmaster as worthy of mention, the two being Prof. Henry Fairbanks and Rev. C. F. Morse. George Gammell, president of the class of 1912, gave a most loyal speech for his class and for the spirit with which it leaves the institution. Prin. Benedict talked of the aims of the school, of what has been done since he came here and his visions of the possibilities of the future of the school, while rosy were so cheery and hopeful that every alumnus agreed with him in his outlook. The last speaker was Mrs. Mabel Carpenter Ireland of Philadelphia, who is not alone a graduate of the institution but was for four years one of the teachers and her words breathed devotion to her alma mater that were echoed in the heart of every graduate present. The first banquet was such a success that every person present hopes to see it made an annual affair.

Class Day Exercises.

Owing to the unfavorable weather on Wednesday the graduating class was unable to hold their class day exercises out of doors as expected so adjourned to the parlors of the South church, where a large audience awaited them and the exercises went off smoothly and according to the program. George C. Gammell, president of the class, led the march as the class entered and took their places, and presided over the exercises of the afternoon. Miss Beatrice Campion was the first to speak, the title of her essay being, "Blind in the Midst of Beauty." An oration "Advance in Flying Machines," by C. Harold Hayden was the second on the program. The Class History by Russell S. Adams related the experience of a group of 27 girls and boys seeking adventures and incidentally knowledge, and ended up in a castle known as St. Johnsbury Academy where they remained four years. The Prophecy by Portia McGill was a description of the class several years into the future, as revealed by a priestess and disclosed some remarkable careers for members of the class, but alas it was only a dream. "The Prophecy of the Prophet" was delivered by Vera K. Goodrich. The Class Will by Val F. Genge and Presentation by Joseph W. Paige created much merriment and evidently the legacies were admirably suited to the recipients. The "Presentation to the Presenter" was given by Harold B. Gammell. The Class Ode written by Miss Grace W. Locke to the music of Die Lorelei was sung by the class under the leadership of Miss Locke.

Senior Promenade.

The Senior promenade which was held at Bertrand's hall Thursday evening was attended by 100 couples and all enjoyed a very pleasant time. The patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mackinnon, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Wood, Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Benedict, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stanley. The committee in charge were George B. Gammell, Miss Portia B. McGill, Walter Cleveland, Lindol French and Miss Arlene Deware, and their special effort to make this festival of commencement week an unusual success was rewarded. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served by Madeline and Clinton Cary and music was furnished by Madam Brock's orchestra.

LYNDON.

A. B. Pratt has a Fawn in Captivity—Death of Mrs. E. E. Hovey.

A. B. Pratt has a tiny baby deer which was caught in Victory about 10 days ago. Its weight when taken was six pounds. It seems likely to live and thrive in spite of unusual conditions.

Mrs. E. E. Hovey died at her home at Red Village last week Tuesday. Although quite ill with pneumonia she was supposed to be in great danger until the last. Her maiden name was Carrie Simpson and she was born in Lyndon, 43 years ago. She was a good woman, beloved by a large circle of friends. She leaves three children, a son and two daughters, beside her husband and other relatives. The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. J. Hutchinson and the interment was at Lyndon Center.

Mr. Farnum has been grading preparatory to erecting a two-story building near the depot to be used as a store house for shingles, lath and house finishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hill of Greensboro are here to visit their father, James Ryan, who is again suffering from an abscess.

Miss Mary Moon of Petersburg, N. Y., returned home Monday. Her sister, Mrs. Earl Bradshaw, is still very ill.

S. M. Farnum has traded his property in Barre with Dr. Davis and purchased the doctor's lot and buildings on Center street, Lyndonville, on which he may erect a two tenement house in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newell are at home after an absence of several months spent in New Hampshire. Mrs. Ray Crawford continues very ill at the home of her mother in Piermont, N. H. Mr. Crawford was down to see her the first of the week.

Arley went to Victory last Friday on a fishing trip and caught a large number of fine trout. During the trip Mr. Wilkie found a quantity of apples on the ground covered with a thick coating of laves which had laid there over winter and were still fresh, sound and eatable.

SUNSET LEAGUE GAMES.

Y. M. C. A. Team Playing Champion Ball Thus Far—Good Game Tonight.

When the teams were being selected, at the beginning of the season, to make up the Sunset League, there was some doubt as to whether the Y. M. C. A. should be considered for a berth. The general opinion was that they could hardly stand the pace set by the other five teams, but they agreed to work hard and play their best and were taken into the fold. That this team has been a disappointment, up to the present, in general conceded. They haven't done a thing that was expected of them. When they were taken in it was with the idea that some one had to be at the bottom of the pile, and now after having met four of their rivals they not only lead them all but have come through with a perfect score.

Tonight the clerks and Y. M. C. A. meet for the first time and Captain Johnson is of the opinion that the leaders are about due for a tumble. It will be worth watching. Four games were played during the past week before large crowds and as a result there are some changes in the league standing. On Tuesday night the Indians hung their sign on the Clerks, 5 to 2. The Y. M. C. A. kept up their winning streak Thursday and Friday evenings, the F. C. A. and Red Men acting as stepping stones and on Monday the Trollers put the Indians to rout. The scores:
